Greetings Cyberneurs!!

So happy to be here, and connect with other cyber entrepreneurs. My name is Rickina and my company is Stick Me Designs. We manufacture and design stylish accessories for people with diabetes. We just launched in November of '07 and have been growing on a slow and steady pace since. Our designs are fresh, fun and most of all functional. We now have customers all over the world which is in itself very exciting, and we're looking for ways to grow and reach the millions of people who are dealing with diabetes everyday.

We're looking for ways to expand our reach, creatively and of course within our limited budget. Anyone in need of networking, or just want to share your experience I'm here to help or listen, and I'll need the same.

Looking forward to Connecting!

~Rickina
