Has anyone heard about flashmob? There happening all over London atm. Basically people meet up and start doing stuff together on mass. There was a massive pillow fight in trafalgar square a while back and a silent rave in victoria! Good opportunity for a PR stunt me thinks;)

Yep - it's great.

I'm currently working at a creative agency (still need to earn money) and it's all we keep an eye out for it. It's very random and you have to be completely indifferent to the onlookers around you. If you hear of any - let me know!!!
